Introducing Fish Carcass by Vi Khi Nao, forthcoming April 5, 2022.

Blending autobiographical truth with poetic invention, Vi Khi Nao's Fish Carcass is a pointillist portrait that catalogs a tripartite digestion process of being-in-the-world. Opening with "Victuals," sensuous delight cedes to the shock of larger-than-life forces that constrict the everyday in "Spasms," where impersonal paroxysms negotiate the personal terrain of biology with a chorus of organs which sing the particular textures of their experience culminating in "Corporality." At once polyvocal and joyous, terrified and terrifying, the poems in Fish Carcass register expression across multiple thresholds, suturing physical, metaphysical, worldly, otherworldly, human, and nonhuman domains to create a cornucopia of potentialities as sprawling as life itself.

"Welcome to the world of Vi Khi Nao's Fish Carcass . . . Here poems enact an explicit alchemy, are alive with the self and that-beyond-self. Both personal and impersonal, bold and morphological, her language makes links and unlinks, allows for criticality, delight, horror, and canny humor. A wonderful wild ride."

—Hoa Nguyen, author of A Thousand Times You Lose Your Treasure

"A furiously inventive lament spiked with wit—a tangy polyvocal plethora—a gut-clench and a soul-check, VKN's Fish Carcass MRIs her and other creatures' ills and pleasures. Violence, vulnerability, alienation: no yearning, devotion, touch or light—girl-on-girl, daughter-mother, quester-god—fully offsets this grief, no pop stylings, stunning images, or sexy menus let you metabolize it . . ."

—Moyna Pam Dick, author of I am writing you from afar
